Organizes

ICSSR (WRC) sponsored National Seminar on Past, Present and Future of Indian Democracy

Saturday, 25th March, 2023

The Theme of the Seminar: Indian democracy is a rare example of a successful Third World democracy. Hence the Indian experiment of democracy is not just important in India but very relevant for the future of democracy in the world. This Seminar aims to study the status of Indian democracy at the current stage of its evolution. It attempts an assessment of it with reference to various aspects of democracy. It aims to dive into the democratic political history of India in order to understand its current manifestations. The Seminar will throw light on the different aspects of Indian democracy. The contributors will be encouraged to explore the future of Indian democracy in all its contours. The Seminar will essentially be interdisciplinary in nature. The Seminar will contribute to a critical and enriching public discourse on democracy. Hence the academically rich discussion on democracy will add to future enhancement of the richness of our democracy by creating and spreading the knowledge on key aspects about the trajectory of our democracy.

Subthemes:

1. Evaluation of the working of Indian Democracy
