Report

Date -09/09/2023

Storytelling activities promote verbal expression, vocabulary development, and effective communication. Participants learn to structure their thoughts coherently and articulate ideas in a compelling manner.

1. Introduction: Asst. Professor Mahesh Mali Sir

2. Guidance:

Communication Skills: Storytelling activities promote verbal expression, vocabulary development, and effective communication. Participants learn to structure their thoughts coherently and articulate ideas in a compelling manner.

Cognitive Development: Engaging in storytelling exercises stimulates cognitive functions, including memory, problem-solving, and critical thinking. Participants must organize information, create narratives, and understand cause-and-effect relationships.

Creativity and Imagination: Storytelling activities encourage participants to tap into their creative potential. Through the creation of characters, settings, and plots, individuals develop imaginative thinking and learn to approach challenges from diverse perspectives.

Emotional Intelligence: Storytelling often involves exploring emotions and empathy. Participants can better understand their emotions and those of others by immersing themselves in different narratives.

3. Gratitude: By Asst. Professor Nikhil Shinge Sir.
