International Tiger Day is a global observance dedicated to raising awareness about the critical issues faced by tigers and advocating for their protection and conservation. Established on July 29, 2010, International Tiger Day highlights the importance of tiger conservation and promotes efforts aimed at safeguarding these majestic animals. This day serves as a platform to address the challenges tigers encounter, including habitat loss, poaching, and human-wildlife conflict, while encouraging actions that contribute to their survival and well-being.

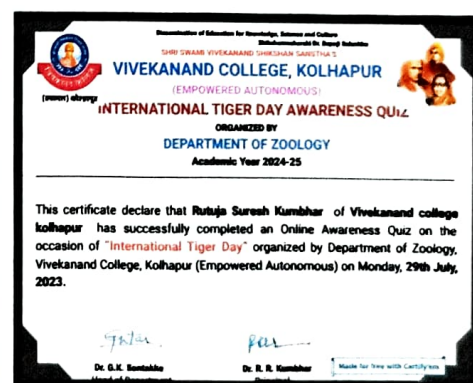

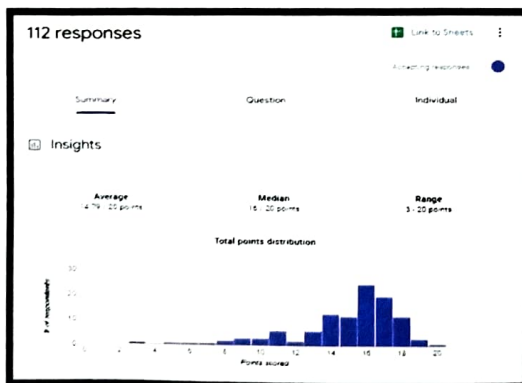

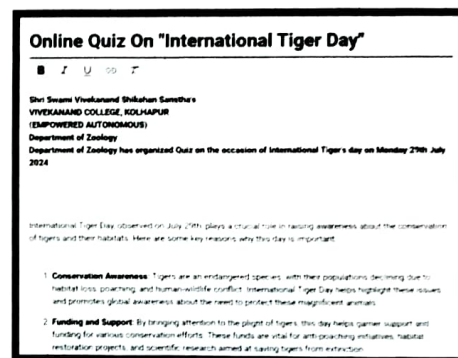

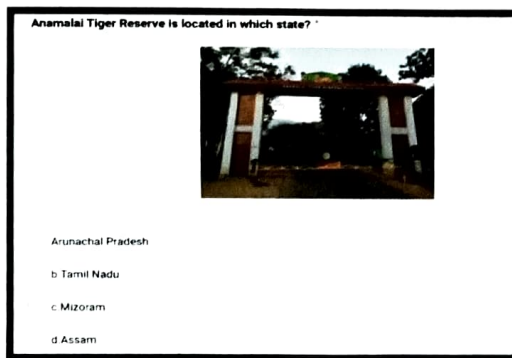

On July 29, 2024, the Department of Zoology organized an awareness quiz on "International Tiger Day" for B.Sc. students. A total of 112 students participated in and benefited from the quiz, which featured 20 excellent questions covering peculiar and scientific information related to tigers. This event was organized under the guidance of Dr. G.

K. Sontakke, Head of the Department of Zoology, and was successfully completed. The quiz was administered online using Google Forms, with the link shared via a WhatsApp group. The organization of the quiz was managed by Dr. T. C. Gaupale and Mr. G. H. Fadake, with support from all teaching faculty of Zoology. After the quiz, all responses were collected online, and e-certificates were sent to the registered email IDs of the students.

8. Outcomes:

- i. Quizzes can serve as educational tools to increase students' awareness of the importance of tiger conservation.
- ii. Students can gain valuable knowledge about tigers, including their behavior, habitat, and ongoing conservation efforts.
- iii. The quiz can effectively reach a younger audience, fostering a sense of responsibility and concern for wildlife and the environment.
- iv. It can inspire students to consider careers in fields related to conservation, ecology, and environmental science.

Tigers are apex predators and play a crucial role in maintaining the balance of their habitats. Understanding their ecological significance can foster greater public support for conservation measures.
- Global Collaboration: International Tiger Day encourages cooperation between governments, conservation organizations, and local communities. It highlights the need for collective action in addressing the challenges faced by tiger populations and their habitats.
- Celebration of Successes: This day also allows for the celebration of progress and successes in tiger conservation. It can boost morale among conservationists and provide a platform to share positive stories and innovations in protecting tigers.
